

June 23rd -08

Etobicoke Baseball Day at the Rogers Centre to Honor one of its Own – Joey Votto

Joey Votto, grew up in Etobicoke playing as a youngster at Queensway, Bloordale, Etobicoke Rangers and played his high-school baseball at Richview Collegiate was a second-round draft pick of the Cincinnati Reds and is now playing in the major leagues for the Cincinnati Reds. This coming June the Cincinnati Reds are coming to Toronto to play a 3 game series with the Jays.

DUNEDIN, FLA. C One of Joey Votto's earliest indications that baseball might figure in his future occurred when he was a little gaffer growing up in Etobicoke in Toronto's west end.
Toronto Globe and Mail - March 2, 2008